Dr. Gheorghita Dincă, Professor, Department of Finance, Accounting and Economic Theory, Transilvania University of Brasov, Romania.

It is my great pleasure to present Volume 5, Issue 2 (February 2026) of the International Journal of Multidisciplinary Research & Reviews (IJMRR). The journal continues its mission of promoting high-quality scholarly research that bridges diverse academic disciplines and encourages intellectual exchange among researchers across the globe.

In today's rapidly evolving academic landscape, multidisciplinary collaboration plays a crucial role in addressing complex societal, scientific, and technological challenges. This issue features a diverse collection of research articles contributed by scholars and professionals from various fields, reflecting innovative ideas, analytical rigor, and meaningful insights.

The editorial team remains committed to maintaining a rigorous peer-review process, ensuring that each manuscript published in the journal meets high academic and ethical standards. We sincerely appreciate the dedication of our reviewers, editorial board members, and contributors whose efforts help maintain the quality and credibility of the journal.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to all authors who have entrusted us with their valuable research work. Their contributions not only enrich the academic community but also promote interdisciplinary dialogue and knowledge dissemination.

We warmly invite researchers, academicians, and professionals to continue submitting their original research articles, review papers, and case studies to future issues of the journal. Together, we strive to advance scholarly excellence and foster a vibrant platform for global academic collaboration.

hope that the articles published in this issue will inspire further research and contribute positively to the advancement of knowledge.

With best regards,

Dr. Gheorghita Dincă
